The Fethiye Film Festival (FFF), which includes all genres—documentary, fiction, animation, and experimental—in its Screening Selection, will take place between December 7-10, 2023.

Organized by the Fethiye Photography and Cinema Art Association (FEFSAD), all film screenings, conferences, and discussions within the festival will be free of charge.

The 1st Fethiye Film Festival Screening Selection was announced on November 17, 2023, on the festival's social media accounts. The Screening Selection includes 30 short films for cinema lovers, while the “Special Screening” section features feature-length films that have made a name for themselves at festivals in Turkey and around the world and have won awards.

The festival, which aims to offer cinema lovers four sessions a day for four days, will announce its film program on November 25.

The FFF, which has received great interest and support from the cinema community, will also host conferences, presentations, and discussions by distinguished academics, cinema veterans, and directors throughout the festival at various venues.

FFF aims to gain an international identity in 2024.

We look forward to seeing you at the 1st Fethiye Film Festival and having your support with us.
